First passage was given the ordinance imposing a $50 license on persons coming to Paducah to close out fire stock or damaged stock with the intention of remaining here temporarily. This ordinance has been defeated in a previous meeting but action was reconsidered in the reading of the minutes of the preceding meetnigs.

The resolution to surrender Yeiser park to the county was adopted, the city attorney stating that the city was not bound by any legal contract to hold the park and improve same.

The reports of Fire Chief Woods, Milk and Meat Inspector Duley and

DEVOURED BY WORMS.

Children often cry, not from pain, but from hunger, although fed abundantly. The entire trouble arises from inanition, their food is not assimilated, but devoured by werms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once, very much to the surprise and joy of the mother. 25c at DBuois, Kolb and Co.

Saved From The Knife.

I am very grateful indeed for the good which I received from the use of Wine of Cardui and am pleased to give you my experience. Shortly after I was married I began to feel miserable, my health and strength failing day by day in connection with headaches, backaches and a general worn-out feeling.

On consulting a doctor he said that I had womb trouble and ulceration and must undergo an operation. so weak that I was sure that I would not live to go through it and decided to try Wine of Cardui which I had seen advertised so much and see what that would do for me before I underwent an operation. I am pleased to state that I felt better much Letter in two weeks and by using Wine of Cardui for two months my health was restored and I now feel like a new woman and look like one, so my friends say. That is what Wine of Cardui has done for me.

Women who know that operations are dangerous, and that too frequently one operation leads to another, rebel against the operating table. Many surgeons are too ready to advise an operation. Mrs. Meder's case and the experience of thousands of other women prove that such extreme measures are usually unnecessary when Wine of Cardui can be obtained.

Wine of Cardui is the best medicine known for the cure of the diseases of women. It strengthens the womanly organs and assists nature to restore healthy functions. It relieves all menstrus disorders and cures bearing down pains and ovarian troubles. It corrects barrenness, relieves the worst pains at childbirth, and is beneficial for women of all ages and conditions. It is not only an emergency medicine in the time of pain and sickness, but it is a sure preventative, an occasional dose of which tones up the general health. If you are suffering, remember the good that Mrs. Meder got out of this medicine and give it a trial. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

Find the Hound.

A Cock, perched among the branches of a tree, crowed aloud. The shrillness of his voice echoed through the wood; and the wellknown sound brought a Fox, who was prowling in quest of prey, to the spot. Reynard, seeing the Cock was at a height, set his wits to work to find some way of bringing him down. He saluted the bird in his mildest tones, and said: "Have you not heard, cousin, of the proclamation of universal peace and harmony among all kinds of beasts and birds? We are no longer to prey upon and devour one another, but love and friendship are to be the order of the day. Do come down and we will talk over this great news at our leisure." The Cock, who knew that the Fox was only at his old tricks, pretended to be watching something in the distance; and the Fox asked him what it was he looked at so earnestly. "Why," said the Cock, "I think I see a pack of Hounds yonder." "Oh, then," said the Fox, "your humble servant must be gone." "Nay, cousin," said the Cock, "pray do not go; I am just coming down. You are surely not afraid of Dogs in these peaceable times." "No, no," said the Fox; "but ten to one whether they have heard of the proclamation yet."

The latest discovery was made at Audjerne, where a treasure box full of silver and gold, weighing nearly 200 pounds was discovered under a slab in an old manor owned by Dr. Piton, a retired naval surgeon. There are coins belonging at noon and hatched at 3 o'clock and to every period of the reign of Louis XIV. and of Louis XIII The treasure, according to French law, will be divided between the proprietor of the manor and the workmen who discovered it.

SAME OLD ARGUMENT.

The Democratic state handbook is out and is evidently designed to deceive no one unless it be the Democrats themselves. It will not get the party any votes and will in all probability fail in its evident purpose of drawing back into the fold the backslider. It is a Goebel affair. Its greatest argument is that Senator

Goebel was killed. This argument is probably used although frayed at the edges, because it is the only one the Democrats have left. It is easy to arouse the partisanship of many of the Democrats by reminding them of it, although they succeeded in stealing all the state offices from the Republicans but one, despite the untimely death of their leader.

If everything else about the Democratic handbook is as palpably untrue as the pardon record, however, it will 4.50 never take a premium at a veracity show. There have now been shown 29 pardons in Breathitt county granted by Governor Beckham, where only seven were reported in the "official list;" five in Carter were suppressed; one unreported in Knott, and twenty others that have been "forgotten," according to the Louisville Herald, which has been taking more trouble to get at the facts than we have, and makes the above claims. In addition this does not show the number of convicts paroled. A parole is virtually a pardon, and as the prison board refused to make public its records, it is impossible to ascertain how many prisoners have been released on parole by the board, which no doubt does anything asked by the governor. These things go to show that the Democrats are not willing to "tote fair" in giving administration records if the reports credited above are true, and they will find in the end that honesty is the best policy.

AN EASY VICTORY.

crats will dwindle to nothing in comparison with those to begin later on. With their candidate for governor of the state ineligible should he be elected, and the probable nominee for mayor of Paducah likewise ineligible, the Republicans may win even should they lose.

But they will not lose. They will win both in the state and in Paducah. AND THE DICK CLYDE WAS RE-The Republicans will have no scarcity of campaign material. In fact all they have to do is to republish the things the Democratic papers have been saying about the Democrats both in the state and in the city. There is a wealth of it, and it will be all the more powerful because it is from the Democratic press itself and they cannot gainsay their own assertions. Let the fight go on. The Republicans are

The Ohio Valley convention at Ev ansville October 14 and 15 is to be one of the most important meetings of the year, and its work, which has assumed vast proportions in recent years, should be encouraged by everybody, Paducah not excepted. There should and doubtless will be a large and representative delegation from here, and in time good results from the association's efforts will begin to manifest themselves, even if they do not at once. Congress cannot long withstand the pressure of such a powerful movement, backed, as it it, by a cause that deserves and is sure to triumph.

The ordinance passed by the council imposing a $500 license on itinerant clothing dealers for coming here and doing business, seems to be a good one. Many of them come into a town, advertise a lot of clothing as slightly damaged by fire, and unload lots of cheap or worthless clothing on unsuspacting people, to the detriment of the home merchant who stays here the year round, pays license and taxes and helps build up the city.

I was suddenly taken with pain around the heart, attacks of shortness of breath, and a suffocating feeling. I could not lie down for three or tour weeks. My home doctor gave me no relief and I thought I would test Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and Nerve Plasters. I got one bottle and a plaster and took the former strictly according to directions, besides, placed a plaster over my left breast. The deep seated pain was gone before the first bottle had been taken and I could draw a long breath for the first time in over a year. I took four bottles of the Heart Cure, and am convinced it saved my life and I think fully as well of the Nerve Plasters. They draw out soceness and pain and bring instant relief. I will add when my trouble was at its worst that the palpitation of my heart shook the bed under me. I could not think of lying on my left side, which was so sore that I could not bear the weight of my arm to rest on it. The disagreeable symptoms have left me and thanks to your Heart Gure. BOTH THE WEATHER AND POLI-TES, BUT ESPECIALLY THE LATTER.

Today has been the liveliest since the campaign for Democratic city offices opened up in Paducah and there have been scores of people on the street corners down town. The candidates have been hustiin, rounding up the vote and there have been several altercations that came near ending in fights. As usual, everybody seems to have a cinch on the various nominations sought and the moocher is the bravest man of them all.

Captain Tom Clifford is in very bad shape. He strained himself running several days ago and nearly caused a rupture. He will probably be unable to be in the game again for some time.

Paducah went to Hopkinsville today for a final struggle for the tail end. Hopkinsville has been fortunate in keeping the position a portion of the time this season, but from the way Paducah played the last three games she stands a good chance to take it from her in the windup.

There are many places in the country of the Northern Pacific, some inexpensive, others better and more expensive, where one can spend the , summer days pleasantly and healthfully. Among these are Walker in the Leech lake country, and Detroit and Battle Lake in the Lake Park region in Minnesota; Eaton's ranch, near Medora, N. D.; Hunter's Hot Springs in the Yellowstone valley, and Missoula and the Bitter-root valley in Montana; Lakes Pend d'Oreille and Cour d'Alene, Idaho; North Yakima in Eastern Washington, and Green River Hot Springs in the Cascades; Tacoma, Seattle, Port Townsend, Port Angeles and Victoria on Puget Sound, and many places along the Columbia river and on the Pacific Ocean from Portland as a center.

Those east of the Mississippi who wish a decided change should go to the Rockies or the Puget Sound and Columbia river and sea coast country. We can only hint at these things here, but write us giving particulars as near as you can, and we will try to give you the needed information to enable you to find what you want. And don't forget that Yellowstone Park is the chief of all tourist shrines. Send to Chas. S. Fee, General Passenger Agent, St. Paul, Minn., six cents for "Wonderland 1902." You need it in your business.

ALICE of OLD VINCENNES

By MAURICE THOMPSON

Copyright, 1900, by the BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

The next morning Long Hair was tracked to the river's edge. He had ant tone, "come in and tell me the been wounded, but whether seriously news. or not could only be conjectured. A sprinkle of blood, here and there quite dash of it, reddened the grass and clumps of weeds he bad run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to baffling pursuit. Indeed pursuit was baffled. No further trace could be found by which to follow the cumpleg fugitive. Some of the men consoled themselves by saying. without believing, that Long Halr was probably lying drowned at the bot-drunk as the devil. He'll get some o' with strips of her apron. It was unde yer scalps yet after he's guzzled all that brandwand slep' a week."

It finally transpired that Oncle Jazon Long Hair was alive, even as a fat, on the farther side of the river. Alice ing to swim with the rotund little dame jeanne under his arm he lost held of it and it went to the bottom They landed at a convenient spot some of the Wabash, where it may be lying at this moment patiently waiting for in the sand and mud and break the ncient wax from its neck!

Rene de Ronville, after the chase of ong Hair had been given over, went o tell Father Beret what had happened, and, finding the priest's but turned into the path leading to the Roussillon place, which was at the head of a narrow street laid out in a direction at right angles to the river's course. He passed two or three diminutive cabins, all as much alike as bee-

As Rene passed along he spoke with a gay French freedom to the dames and lasses who chanced to be wisible. His air would be regarded as vielently brigandish in our day. We might even go so far as to think his whole appearance comical. His jaunty cap, with a tall that wagged as he walked; his short trousers and leggings of buck skin and his bose shirtlike tunic, drawn in at the waist with a broad belt, gave his streng figure just the dash of wildness sulted to the armament with which it was weighted. A beavy gun lay in the hollow of his shoulder, under which thung an otter skin ballet pouch with its clear powder horn and white bone charger. In his belt were two hope fliastock pistols and a long

"Boa Jour, Mile. Adrienne," he cheerily called," waving his free hand in greeting to a small, dark lass standing on the step of a veranda and indolently swinging a broom. "Comment callezvous an jourd bui?"

"J'm'porte tres bien, merci," Misieu' Rene," was the quick response. "Et rous? "Oh, I'm as I wely as a cricket."

"Going athunting?"

"No, just up here a little way-just on business-up to M'sieu' Roussilion's for a moment." "Yes," the girl responded in a rione indicative of something very like spleen. "Yes, undoubtedly, M'sieu' de Ronville. Your business there seems quite pressing of late. I have noticed your industrious application to that business." "Ta-ta, fittle one," he wheedled, lowering his voice. "You musta't go to making bugbears out of nothing." "Bugbears!" she retorted. "You ge on about your business, and I'll attend to mine," and she färted into the house. Rene laughed under his breath, standing a moment as of expecting her to come out again, but she did not, and te resumed ids walk singing softly:

"Elle a les joues vermeilles, vermeilles, Ma belle, ma belle petite."

But ten to one he was not thinking of Wile. Adrienne Boureier. His mind, however, must have been absorbingly secupied, for in the straight, open way he met Father Beret and did not see big until he came near bumping against the old man, who stepped aside with astonishing agility and said:

"Dieu vous benisse, mon fils, but what is your great hurry? Where can you be going in such happy haste?" Rene did not stop to parley with the priest. He had in his mind what he was going to say when Alice and he should be alone together. It was a pretty speech, he thought-indeed a very thrilling little speech by the way it stirred his own nerve centers as he conned it over.

Mme. Roussillon met him at the door in not a very good humor.

"Is Mile. Alice here?" he ventured to demand. "Alice? No, she's not here; she's never here just when I want her most. Via le pichois et la grive (see the woodpecker and the robin) eating the cherries, eating every one of them, and that girl running off somewhere instead of staying here and picking them," she railed in answer to the young man's polite inquiry. "I haven't seen her these four hours, neither her nor that rascally hunchback, Jean. They're up to some mischief, I'll be bound!" Mme. Roussillon puffed audibly between phrases, but she suddenly became very mild when relieved of her "Mals entrez," she added in a pleas Rene's disappointment rushed into his face, but he managed to laugh it aside.

"Father Beret has just been telling me," said Mme. Roussillon, "that our friend Long Hair made some trouble last night. How about it?"

Rene told her what he knew and added that Long Hair would probably never be seen again.

"He was shot, no doubt of it," he went on, "and is now being nibbled by fish and turtles. We tracked him by his blood to where he jumped into the Wabash. He never came out."

Strangely enough, it happened that at the very time of this chat between bandaging Long Hair's wounded leg slough, which in those days extended was partly right and partly wrong. a mile or two back into the country and Jean went over in a pirogue to see if the water Elies, haunting a pond there, were yet beginning to bloom. distance up the little lagoon, made the Feed Water Co., Chicago, was in the ome one to fish it out of its bed deep ashore, and were on the point of setting unlike that of a self satisfied pig, at not to be forgotten. 'They've been hunting him everywhere," he said in a half whisper to Alice, clutching the skirt of her dress. "It's Long Hair, the Indian who stole the brandy. I know him."

Alice recoiled a pace or two "Let's go back and tell 'en," Jean kill kim; Oncle Jazen said se. Come

He gave her dress a jerk, but she did not move any farther back. She was looking at the blood oozing from a would in the Indian's leg.

"He is shot; he as hurt, Tean; we must help him," she presently said, recovering her self control, yet still pale. "We must get him out of that bad place."

Then Alke tore up her cotton apron, in which she had hoped to bear home a time, during which the Indian remained silent and apparently quite indifferent.

Long Hair was a man of superior physique, tall, straight, with the museles of a Vulcan, and while he lay stretched on the ground, half clad and motionless, be would have been a grand model for a heroic figure in bronze. Yet from every lineament home in Washington. there came a strange repelling influence, like that from a snake. Alice felt almost unbearable disgust while doing her merciful task, but she bravely persevered until it was finished.

It was now late in the afternoon and the sun would be setting before they could reach home.

"We must hurry back, Jean," Alice said, turning to depart. "It will be all we can do to reach the other side in daylight. I'm thinking that they'll be out hunting for us, too, if we don't move right lively. Come."

She gave the Indian another glance when she had taken but a step. He grunted and held up something in his hand-something that shone with a dull yellow light. It was a small, oval, gold locket which she had always worn in her bosom. She sprang and snatched it from his palm.

"Thank you," she exclaimed, smiling gratefully. "I am so glad you found

A recent visitor from Philadelphia, who formerly went to Carlsbad every year, said: "I do not see why anyone goes to Europe for medicinal waters. Genttemen: Having used Hayes' Beechwood Emulso-Hypo with Iron I cannot commend it too highly to others as a tonic flesh builder and to give strength, blood and muscle. It is superior to any preparation of which I have any knowledge. I take plessure in recommending it.

Yours truly,

Pastor M. E. Church, South.
